

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A shoe with an upper, a midsole, and an outsole is provided with a spinner element rotatably mounted to at least one of the upper and the midsole. The spinner element is mounted for free rotation and generally defines a plane of rotation substantially parallel to the shoe at a 5 point of attachment of the spinner element to the shoe.